

Physiotherapists

Physiotherapists in general practice are experts in musculoskeletal conditions. They are able to assess, diagnose and treat a range of complex muscle and joint conditions preventing the need for referrals to hospital. They can arrange swift access to further treatment, investigations and specialists when needed.

They can help with:

- » Diagnosing and treating muscular and joint conditions
- » Advising on how to manage your condition
- » Referrals on to specialist services

Steven Swindell,
First Contact Physiotherapist